Check the internet for other homeschool curriculum publishers, private and online schools, for many more resources, free and purchased.

Disclaimer: This list was compiled rather quickly from many trusted resources, some faith-based and some not, some private sector and some public sector. There are so many links to so many varying organizations that it becomes nearly impossible to endorse every group and every lesson plan and activity. As with any resource list, parents need to thoroughly check out all resources. Please use your discretion and discernment to find resources that are compatible with your worldview. If you find anything blatantly incompatible with the Judeo-Christian worldview, please notify HomeHeartEducation@gmail.com. Thank you.
